

Abstract

A liquid crystal display module includes a liquid crystal panel, a bottom cover having a plurality of lamps installed thereabove, a reflection sheet for reflecting the light generated from the lamps and a main support having openings in which the lamps are inserted, an extension part extending from the openings, and a supporting member for supporting the liquid crystal panel.